Dakota Gold Corp. Announces Appointment of Patrick Malone as Chief Sustainability Officer

LEAD, SOUTH DAKOTA – Dakota Gold Corp. (NYSE American: DC) (“Dakota Gold” or the “Company”) is pleased to announce that Patrick Malone has been appointed as the Chief Sustainability Officer of the Company.

“Patrick has a deep knowledge of the Homestake District and the expertise he gained at Barrick will be invaluable to Dakota Gold as we execute on our strategy. We worked closely with Patrick over the past two years and I am confident he will be a great addition to the Company”, said Jonathan Awde, Dakota Gold’s President and CEO.

Mr. Malone has more than two decades experience in sustainable permitting, operation, closure, and redevelopment of mining properties. Previously, Mr. Malone held legal and executive positions at Barrick Gold Corporation, including Associate General Counsel - North America, Vice President Environment, and finally Vice President Reclamation and Closure, where he oversaw closure planning for Barrick’s international operations as well as for general management of a portfolio of closed mining properties. In this last role, Mr. Malone was responsible for both the Homestake and Richmond Hill mines, serving as President of both Homestake Mining Company of California and LAC Minerals (USA). Mr. Malone holds degrees in both Conservation Biology and Law.

“While at Barrick, I was privileged to lead several closed mines into new life and successes,” said Mr. Malone. “I believe that Dakota Gold has a special opportunity to revitalize the Homestake District and I am very excited to join Jonathan and the impressive team he has assembled at Dakota Gold.”
