Location

Dakota Gold is headquartered in Lead, South Dakota, which is located approx. 4 miles from Deadwood, both of which are interesting historical towns with entertainment and dining. Additionally, Rapid City, a major city center, is located only 45 miles away. Our exploration operations take place in the area surrounding the city of Lead, this offers a great work life balance with minimal commuting to and from work each day.

The area is known for some of the best outdoor recreation in South Dakota with hiking, biking, fishing and skiing all within a few miles of Lead in the Black Hills. The Lead-Deadwood area is also a mining friendly jurisdiction with a long history of mining in the historic Homestake District, Homestake Mine itself, operated for 145 years, centered in the middle of the town of Lead. In addition, the Wharf Gold Mine operates a few miles west of Lead and has been in operation continuously for nearly 40 years. The local community is well informed and many of the area's established families are connected to current or past mining operations.

Growth and Lifestyle Opportunity

The Company has been putting together an experienced, multidisciplinary team of highly skilled individuals with international experience, and continue to strive to hire a large portion of its technical workforce from the pool of younger graduates of the South Dakota School of Mines and other South Dakota universities. Many of our experienced staff are returning to the Black Hills from other mining regions to continue with their careers. They grew up or went to school in the region and now have an opportunity to return to the area with its recreational and lifestyle advantages.

Revitalizing the Homestake District of South Dakota

Working for Dakota Gold is an excellent opportunity for someone to establish themselves in an interesting, geologically complex, and relatively under explored major gold camp. Beyond the great geologic setting and exploration opportunities, the project is in the USA, and living in the Black Hills in South Dakota offers a desirable lifestyle, with the reasonably affordable cost of living and a mixture of outdoor recreation, dining, entertainment and amenities all located nearby within the surrounding communities.
